

My community will be economically stable when:

financial literacy programs are easy to understand activated maintained space for design ops when people in neighborhood can better understand financial stability when opportunities are widely available when residents are owners when everyone who wants to work can work we bring back the supermarket and corner grocery store more social events and activity spaces more community engagement events happen real investment in education real living wage w/ potential

My community includes:

elders

more programs for youth and seniors should be involved w/youth solid intergenerational relationships happen everybody! what about the in-betweeners? tie together youth + seniors the arts - painting, singing, cooking, crafting, carpentry, theatre, coaching more social activity spaces, access info for residents, after-hours community engagement formally incarcerated individuals access to banking multi-generational families mentors and coaches opportunity for community to come together as 1

This is important because:

economic stability should be multi-generational this is what the community needs keep creating momentum/energy w/residents b/c everyone deserves access to same opps regardless of zipcode resiliency for health + against eco crisis everyone deserves healthy, happy, comfy lives = thriving communities more engagement - hard w/ COVID builds character and growth in oneself

Are there new strategies we should consider?

assistance with navigating services that are available

programs for children with special needs and overall more support for parents

include broadband/wi-fi access (if tech access doesn't include this)

paid training and
